BOOK STUDY CLUB

Book Study will be starting the week of July 22nd! We are looking for participants, hosts, and what days work best for people!

We will read "Searching for Sunday" by Rachel Held Evans. It will challenge you spiritually and make you ask questions – and admit to some of your pre-existing questions – but anyone can understand and digest the content. It should take 7 weeks to finish, with a meeting each week to discuss what we read!

If you are interested, please e-mail Pastor Rob (gracepastor@gpcfw.org) with something about Book Study in the subject line.

More details to come as we get closer!

What does it mean to be a "Neighborhood Church"?

In my interviews with the PNC and our conversations when I visited, Grace people believe that Grace is a "Neighborhood Church." I have heard stories about the neighborhood of the past, how people grew up here and started lives here. We claim ourselves as a part of the neighborhood.

But, are we? I want you, Grace family, to think about that question. Are we part of the neighborhood, or just happen to have a building in the neighborhood? Are we part of the life of North Highlands and the wider 46808 zip code, or do we just travel in?

Convicting questions tend lead to one answer, I know, but I see people laying paths and inroads to help with walk with our neighborhood and live as part of the neighborhood. Congregational Life and M.O.E. have started looking for ways to just fellowship with our neighbors here, and I want to encourage the wider Grace family to do the same.

For the few that actually live close, what opportunities do you see for Grace to join, partner, and walk with our neighbors? For everyone else, will you joyfully come to the neighborhood – regularly beyond Sunday and Bible Study – to live as part of this area and not just a visitor to a building twice a week?

I want Grace to be a neighborhood church, and I think this area needs relationship with church. We have opportunity here to live out the second greatest commandment – "Love your neighbor as yourself" – if we just listen and live it out.

Peace, Pastor Rob

HEARTS AND TREASURES

In his Sermon on the Mount, Jesus told his disciples and listeners, "Where your treasure is, there your heart will be also" (Matthew 6:21). One line in the lyrics of blues singer Bonnie Raitt's recording "I Can't Make You Love Me" tells us, "You can't make your heart feel something it won't". Believe it or not, both of these ideas relate to the stewardship of the financial resources we receive from God.

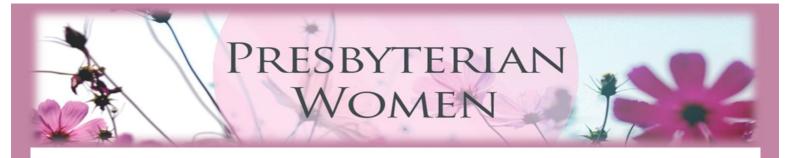

We know that giving back to God is an act of worship since it's a part of most Christian worship services. And we know that it's also an expression of our faith. But the Bible also presents giving as a spiritual discipline, and recognition of what it says in this regard is central to an understanding of biblical stewardship as "good news." Christian churches of all denominations teach that there are certain practices that we can do regularly to maintain our spiritual health. There is a lot of variety among different sects and denominations, but also a good deal of overlap. Almost all churches would recommend that their members practice some routine of Bible reading or of personal or family devotions. But, of all the spiritual disciplines that are presented in the Bible (and in the teachings of various churches), giving to God is special in that it is the most directly connected to the status and condition of our hearts.

When we read that Jesus said, "Where your treasure is, there your heart will be also", we probably think he meant, "People put their treasures (their money) where their hearts are." As if how much they spend on family, entertainment, travel, church reveals where their priorities (hearts) are. But that's not really what Jesus said. He didn't say, "Where your heart is, there your treasure will be." Jesus said it the other way around: "where you put your treasure—that's where your heart will end up." The point isn't that how we spend our money reveals what sort of people we are, but that how we spend our money determines what sort of people we become. It is sometimes easier to act oneself into a new way of thinking than to think oneself into a new way of acting. We can control what happens to our hearts. We can do so in a very practical way, by deciding what sort of people we want to be, and then giving our treasure—our time, our talents, and our money—to those things that we want to care about.

This is actually very good news! What it means, in essence, is that Bonnie's song isn't true. We can make our hearts feel what they don't. "Give from the heart!" people say. But Jesus seemed to speak of something else: Give where you want your heart to be, and let your heart catch up. Don't just give to things you care about. Give to things you want to care about. Don't decide the amount of your giving by how much you care, but by how much you want to care.
